Governor Bricker to Speak at Founder's Day Convocation in Auditorium on February 18th

RARE ARE the occasions when Ohio University is honored by a visit from the chief executive of the state. Founder's Day, February 18, will be such an occasion, however, when Governor John W. Bricker comes to the campus to speak on a Founder's Day Convocation program in observance of the 137th anniversary of the establishment of the first university in the Northwest Territory. The convocation will be held at 3:15 p.m. in Alumni Memorial Auditorium. Originally scheduled to share the anniversary program with the governor was National Commander Milo J. Warner of the American Legion. Commander Warner meanwhile, however, has planned a Clipper ship flight to England, and perhaps to the Continent, for unofficial observance of civilian defense measures.

The invitation to Commander Warner to participate in the February 18 program was extended and accepted in recognition of the fact that both of the two co-founders of Ohio University, the Rev. Dr. Manasseh Cutler and General Rufus Putnam, were officers in the Revolutionary War, the former as a chaplain and the latter as chief of General George Washington's staff of engineers.

Founder's Day has not been observed for several years past, so there is much pleasure and satisfaction in the promise of the chief of state to assist in re-inaugurating the memorial event. Aiding in the reception of the governor and his party will be the Ohio University R.O.T.C. regiment under the command of Col. Thomas F. McNeill. Governor Bricker and his military aides will be received at the North (Class of 1912) Gateway by the R.O.T.C. units drawn up in company front formations. Military honors will be rendered by the Corps' officers and band.

Following the extension to the governor of the privilege of formally inspecting the R.O.T.C. units, the governor, with his aides and an honorary escort, will proceed through lines of cadets to Ewing Hall, there to be met by President H. G. James and other officials of the university. President James will preside at the convocation.

Music for the program will be provided by the Ohio University Choir under the direction of Prof. C. C. Robinson, director of the School of Music. The choir of 42 members, chosen from among the best voices on the campus, will sing "In the Silent Night," by Rachmaninoff; "Viennese Waltz," by Ernest Charles; "My Lovely Celilia," by George Munro; and "Ohio Hymn," by Fretz-Brahms.

Ohio University traces its spiritual origin to a clause, drafted by the Rev. Dr. Manasseh Cutler, in the Ordinance of 1787, which declared that "Religion, morality, and knowledge, being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged." The Ordinance was devised "for the government of the territory of the United States northwest of the river Ohio," a region now generally known as the "Northwest Territory."

In its land purchase contract entered into with the Federal Government three months after the passage of the Ordinance, the Ohio Company of Associates reserved "two complete townships for the purposes of an university." Upon the establishment of government in the "Ohio lands" and the location of the townships by General Rufus Putnam, the Territorial Legislature, sitting in Chillicothe, on January 9, 1802, provided by an enactment "that there shall be a university instituted and established in the town of Athens . . . by the name and style of the American Western University." This act was approved by Arthur St. Clair, governor of the Northwest Territory.

Governor John W. Bricker

Two years later, Ohio in the meantime having been admitted to the Union, the state legislature re-enacted the provisions of the Territorial Act with a few changes. This latter act, which gave to the institution the name "Ohio University," has since been regarded as the charter of the school. Edward Tiffin, first governor of Ohio, rode horseback from Chillicothe over wilderness trails to preside over the first meeting of the board of trustees.

The college lands, Athens and Alexander townships, were surveyed as early as 1797. Alvan Bingham, supervised by General Putnam, was the surveyor. Although there were a few pioneers living on the site, the town of Athens was not regularly laid out until 1799. The town received its name from the fact that it was to be the seat of Ohio University and, therefore, like the ancient city of Athens, Greece, the seat of culture and learning.

Among the early settlers in and near Athens were many Revolutionary War veterans, some of whom were graduates of Harvard, Yale, and Princeton universities.

Ohio University as founded and conducted during the early years of its existence was a college devoted to the arts and sciences. The present organization of the university comprises seven colleges, three divisions, and the summer sessions. Students are enrolled from a majority of the states and from several foreign countries. The enrollment for the first semester of 1940-41 is exactly 3,500, of whom 2,046 are men and 1,454 are women.

New York Pathologist Sets Excellent Example With A Gift to Ohio University Laboratory

OHIO UNIVERSITY, unfortunately, can point with pride or other evidences of satisfaction, to but few gifts that have come from alumni and friends of the institution. This is true not because Ohio University graduates are an ungrateful lot, but because the habit or tradition of giving has never been encouraged.

It is true, also, no doubt, because alumni do not realize that useful gifts, even though modest in value, are always welcome at an institution whose funds for apparatus and equipment are frequently so limited as to make impossible the purchase of very essential, though relatively inexpensive, items.

Pleased, therefore, was Dr. Carl A. Frey, '25, professor of bacteriology, when recently he received from Dr. Aaron Sumner Price, '21, clinical professor of pathology and director of clinical laboratories at New York Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital in New York City, an analytical balance, together with a set of platinum plated weights, for use in his work in Science Hall. No minor gift this, the sensitive scales, manufactured by F. Sartorius in Göttingen, Germany, and no longer obtainable, are valued at more than $300.

Of equal interest with the gift, however, are some facts about the giver. With natural as well as professional reluctance, the New York pathologist provided the following data concerning himself only after the editor of The Ohio Alumnus had wired a most insistent request for it.

Dr. Price pursued the three-year premedical course at Ohio University, 1917-20, and then entered the University of Louisville Medical School where he was an instructor in histology and embryology during three of his four years. Following the receipt of the M. D. degree in 1924, he served an internship at the Oklahoma State University Hospital. After that he engaged in a general medical practice at Osage, Okla., for fourteen months.

Giving up private practice, he became an assistant in pathology in the New York University Dental College, and later a full-time instructor in pathology in New York University and the Bellevue Hospital College of Medicine. In 1929, he became adjunct professor of pathology in the New York Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital. Since 1934, he has been a full-time professor of clinical pathology and director of the clinical laboratories. In addition to the foregoing connections he has held appointments at the following hospitals: Manhattan Maternity Hospital, New York Foundling Hospital, Booth Memorial Hospital, Lying-In Hospital, all in New York City, and Seaside Hospital, on Staten Island.

Dr. Price has been certified by the American Board of Pathology and is a fellow in the New York Academy of Medicine. He is a member of the New York Pathological Society and various other professional organizations. On the non-professional side, he is a member of the Ohio Society of New York and the Quill Club of New York. His alma mater's Phi Beta Kappa chapter made him an alumni member last year. His home is in Englewood, N. J., where for the past two years he has been president of the parent-teacher association of the President Roosevelt School.

His publications and writings, dealing with a wide variety of subjects within the scope of his field, include such laymen-stumping titles as: Schistosomiasis Mansoni (Blood Fluke), The Relationship of Gastroenterological Lesions to Nephrosis, Pathologic Reactions Found After X-ray Therapy, Liver Lesions in the Newborn, Carcinoma of the Breast, The Histopathologic Reactions of Syphilis, and Dermatobiosis Hominis (The Bot Fly). His current research problems are: (1) Allergy; the relationship of food allergies to migraine and angina pectoris, and (2) Light; therapeutic uses of the so-called abiotic short wave band, particularly of the 2587 Angstrom, and pathologic reactions produced.

In response to the editor's inquiry, "Just what are the activities of your clinical laboratory?", Dr. Price drafted the following outline:

(1) Microscopic diagnosis of tissues. All specimens removed from a patient are submitted for histologic examination. About one case in 16 operated upon at my hospital (including simple appendices, hernial sacs, etc.) where tissue is removed show cancer of one variety or another; 2% are tuberculous, etc.

(2) Blood chemistry, sulfanilamid determinations, etc.

(3) Serology (Wassermann's, Kahns, etc.)

(4) Bacteriology.

(5) Blood counts, blood typing for transfusion.

(6) Examination of sputa, excreta, gastric, or other secretions or excretions, etc.

(7) Consultation.

(8) Transfusion and infusion (supervision and practice of).

(9) Autopsies (post-mortem examinations).

In 1931, he married Dr. Isabel Turner, a classmate at the University of Louisville, who is also a graduate of the University of Alabama and who is at present an anesthetist at Manhattan General Hospital. Dr. and Mrs. Price have two children, Louise, age 9, and Robert, age 8. Dr. Price is a son of the late Aaron E. Price, '88, and of Mrs. Anna Klostermeier Price, '14, Athens, and a brother of Dr. Louise Price, '12, New York City, and John H. Price, '26, Columbus.

Campus Religious Programs Meet Needs of Hundreds of Students

In a story appearing in last month's issue of The Ohio Alumnus the work of two Athens churches — the Methodist and Presbyterian — in providing religious leadership and inspiration for Ohio University students was described.

Besides these churches, three other local congregations, the Christian, Episcopal, and Catholic, sponsor well-organized programs in the student interest although they do not employ full-time directors.

In the absence of a church or synagogue in Athens, the religious welfare of the approximately 300 Jewish students on the campus is served by Rabbi Herschel Lyman, of Cincinnati, who comes every other weekend to conduct religious exercises and to advise in the activities of Hillel Foundation, a national organization. About 70 Jewish students participate in the Foundation's local program. Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement) is observed each fall with services in the Methodist church.

Two other organizations not affiliated with local churches are the Lutheran Student Association and the Christian Science Society. Both were organized on the campus in 1937.

The Catholic Church functions through the Newman Club, a unit of the Newman Club Federation which is an international organization of Catholic students attending non-Catholic colleges and universities. There are some 400 Ohio University students eligible for membership in the Newman Club. The club was named for John Henry Cardinal Newman of England.

Rev. Father William G. Dowd, priest of St. Paul's parish, Athens, is chaplain and spiritual adviser of the local organization. The club has brought numerous outstanding speakers to the campus in recent years. Twice each year the members partake of a corporate communion at St. Paul's Church which is followed by a breakfast at Hotel Berry or the University Grill.

The Church of the Good Shepherd sponsors the Episcopal Student Club of which Rector Robert G. Purrington is chaplain. Rev. Purrington is assisted in his ministrations to Episcopal churches in Nelsonville, Logan, and McArthur, as well as to Christ Neighborhood House in Carbondale, by student leaders. Of his seven aids last year, six were planning to study for Holy Orders. Samuel G. Downer, '40, now of Wheeling, W. Va., and Wendell P. Thomas, senior this year, were among the most active of last year's student leaders.

The social-religious program of the Christian Church is much like that of the other Protestant churches in Athens, although, at the present time it is somewhat restricted in scope. With the coming of a new minister shortly, it is expected that numerous student activities will be resumed.

Death Visits Homes of Many Ohioans During Recent Months

Death has taken a considerable toll in the ranks of Ohio University mothers and fathers in recent months. Among the alumni to claim our sympathy in their bereavements are the following:

For the loss of fathers—Mrs. H. R. Wilson (FLORENCE CRAIG, '98), Athens; DR. GEORGE A. WOODHOUSE, '21, Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Samuel B. Erskine (MARY VICKERS, '22), and BERTHA VICKERS, '24x, Athens; DON B. ROUSH, '32, Tuscon, Ariz., REX ROUSH, '28x, Laguna Beach, Calif., and Mrs. John Algeo (VIANNA ROUSH, '29x), and CHARLES E. ROUSH, '37, Athens; Mrs. Kenneth Poor (PEARL McCLAUGHLIN, '28, 2-yr.), R.F.D., Thurman; Mrs. David C. Miller (ELEANOR LAMBERT, '27), Middleport, and MARIAN LAMBERT, '22x, Berea; Mrs. James McClanahan (MARIAN PIERCE, '36), Mt. Gilead, and ALICE PIERCE, '39x, Athens; Mrs. Phil Taylor (MILDRED EDDY, '14, 2-yr.), Jeanette, Pa.

IVA EDDY, '09, 2-yr., Columbus; CLEMMA VALE, '29, 2-yr., Fulton; Mrs. Bernard McCashen (REGINA MULLIGAN, '31), Cincinnati, MARY MULLIGAN, '30, Athens, and Mrs. Michael Hillis, (JESSIE MULLIGAN, '19x), New Lexington; GILBERT M. SHANNON, '38, Cincinnati, and Mrs. Vere Smith (KATHLEEN SHANNON, '40x), Athens; VINCENT J. JUKES, '30, Ann Arbor, Mich.; WILDA HUNTER, '25, and LUCILE HUNTER, '38, Athens; DORIS DAY, '32, Norwood; W. CONLEY SMITH, '35, Wilkinsburg, Pa., and AVA SMITH, '38, Van Wert; GRACE STICKNEY, '02, 2-yr., and BERTHA STICKNEY, '13, 2-yr., Athens; Mrs. Gordon Nelson (MARTHA WHIPPLE, '29), Bridgeport, Conn., ELDRIDGE WHIPPLE, '33x, Athens, and RICHARD J. WHIPPLE, '38 (M.F.A. '39), Philadelphia.

ANNUAL DUES for membership in the Ohio University Alumni Association are $2.50, of which $1.50 is for a year's subscription to The Ohio Alumnus. Memberships are renewable on October first of each year.

DISCONTINUANCE—If any subscriber wishes his Alumnus discontinued at the expiration of his subscription, notice to that effect should be sent with the subscription, or at its expiration. Otherwise it is understood that a continuance is desired.

REMITTANCE should be made by check or money order, payable to the order of the Ohio University Alumni Association, and mailed to the Association, Box 285, Athens, Ohio.

Former University Official Dies

John Alonzo Palmer, '11, 2-yr., age 50, former assistant business manager of Ohio University, died in Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 12, 1941, where he and Mrs. Palmer had established their home last October. He had been ill for more than two years. Death resulted from an attack of influenza.

Mr. Palmer was assistant cashier of the Bank of Athens for a number of years prior to his acceptance of the post of assistant business manager of Ohio University in 1927. Because of ill health, he was granted a leave of absence in December, 1938, but he was never able to resume his work.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Helen Smith Palmer, his survivors include a sister, Mrs. Verne E. LeRoy (Edith Palmer, '09), East Lansing, Mich., and Horace D. "Hokey" Palmer, '16x, Athens.

JOSEPH S. GILL, '38, Cambridge, Mass.; EDGAR W. SHOEMAKER, '26, Cleveland; DWIGHT GASKILL, '35, Columbus, and RILEY GASKILL, '36, Fostoria; NED J. WOLFE, '04, 2-yr., Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; and RAYMOND E. LIPPINCOTT, '22, 2-yr., Cleveland.

Mrs. Gaskill was the wife of PEARLEY GASKILL, '15, Athens. Mrs. Gill was a sister of HAROLD H. SHIVELY, '13, Needham Heights, Mass., and EARL C. SHIVELY, '21, Columbus. Mr. Pierce was a brother off Mrs. T. K. Owens (RUTH PIERCE, '29), Jackson. To this necrology record should also be added the wife of LEROY R. PIERCE, '21, Athens.

On and About the Campus . . .

AN INFLUENZA epidemic which is estimated by Dr. E. Herndon Hudson, director of the University Health Service, to have stricken approximately 1,000 members of the student body and teaching staff, has passed its peak and is rapidly abating as The Ohio Alumnae goes to press. Before subsiding, however, the disease claimed as a victim, Marvin Goldhamer, age 20, a Cleveland junior in the College of Applied Science. Goldhamer succumbed to an "influenza-type" pneumonia after a two-day illness. With but few exceptions all the cases of influenza have been of a mild nature. Although university sessions were not suspended, strict regulations regarding the activities of students were promulgated. Classroom instructors checked their students at the beginning of each period for symptoms of colds or illness. Heads of housing units were continually on the alert for signs of incipient illness.

DR. ROBERT G. Dawes, head of the School of Dramatic Art and director of the University Theater, has announced that John Erskine is writing another play, "Thought for The Morrow," which is to be offered to Ohio University for its world premiere. An Erskine play, "Henry Disarms," made its initial appearance at Ohio University last spring. Dr. Dawes has also secured from his fraternity brother, Elliott Nugent, permission to stage the Nugent-Thurber play, "The Male Animal," just as soon as the professional company completes its season. "Three Men on a Horse," a hilarious comedy by co-authors Cecil Holm and George Abbott, is a University Theatre production scheduled for Feb. 6 and 7.

LAURENCE W. Lange, dean of men, has been granted a leave of absence to complete work for his doctorate at New York University. Dean Lange expects to be off the campus only two months. He came to Ohio University last July 1 after serving as director of personnel and admissions at New York University.

RECENTLY concluded arrangements made by Ohio University's department of zoology with the Grant Hospital School for Nursing,

Columbus, will make it possible for students who wish to obtain a college degree and also become registered nurses to fulfill their requirements by completing a three-year curriculum on the campus and two years and four months of training at the hospital. Applicants must be fitted for nursing both in physique and personality, and must pass tests prescribed by the State Board. Dr. Frederick H. Kreckler, chairman of the department of zoology, was the negotiating officer for Ohio University. In the picture, Dr. Kreckler is to be seen shaking hands with "an old friend."

THE ATHENS Mechanical School, created to aid in defense preparation, is under the administration of the College of Applied Science and will train N.Y.A. men in aircraft mechanics essential as a background for positions in airplane factories. George H. Sprague, '32, will be supervisor of the school. The six months training period will start Jan. 20 in the old waterworks building on West Washington Street. The N.Y. A. has provided approximately $75,000 worth of equipment for use in the course.

KAPPA DELTA PI, national education honorary society, last month initiated twenty new members, seventeen of whom were undergraduates. The students: Isabel Clark, Findlay; Ashby Coffman, Athens; Wesley Dill, Cleveland; Theresa Fuetterer, Cuyahoga Falls; Martha Harris, St. Clairsville; Naomi Heldman, R. F. D., Marietta; Grace Kent, Jackson; Edward Kuna, Cleveland; Jean Leaf, Cleveland; Aletha McKibben, Coshocton; Wayne Newell, Ashland; Betty Parge, Cleveland; Helen Robertson, Dayton; Charles Skelly, Cleveland; Mary Sleeman, Mt. Vernon; Hope Spidell, Strasburg. Other initiates were Mary Anorietto, '20, assistant registrar, and Carleton Calkin, instructor in school design, both of Ohio University, and Raymond Oliver, '38, relief teacher, history, Athens High School.

AT THE REQUEST of Ohio University co-eds, Dean of Women Irma E. Voigt has resumed a custom of former years of holding "fireside readings" open to all women at her home on Sunday evenings at 7:30.

ATHENS GOT A taste of night flying recently — and kept the telephone busy at the Athens Airport to find out about it — when advanced students of the Civilian Pilot Training Program began the first of their night training flights. The sound of alternately whining and roaring motors, as the students engaged in stunts and maneuvers, drew many residents out of their homes to see if Hitler's Messerschmitts and Stukas had really reached America.

DR. JOHN A. HESS, professor of German, has declined a recent election as president of the American Association of Teachers of German. The election took place at the annual December meeting in Boston which Dr. Hess was unable to attend. A full teaching load and the German editorship of the Modern Language Journal, publication of the National Federation of Modern Language Teachers, were given as reasons for declining the honor.

AT THE REQUEST of Adjutant General Adams of the U. S. Army, two hundred copies of the Ohio University Extension Division bulletin have been sent to the War Department for distribution to army camps and posts.

Cleveland Man Mentioned for Highest Post in City Government

Although the plans of his friends did not materialize, Homer H. Marshman, '20, attorney, was strongly endorsed by a Cleveland newspaper and numerous civic groups for appointment to a position in the Cleveland city government which would lead to the mayoralty upon the resignation of U. S. Senator Harold H. Burton, then mayor.

Homer H. Marshman

Attorney Marshman graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1923, after which he practiced law in Boston for one year. He then came to Cleveland where he has since engaged in the practice of his profession.

His interest is primarily in the trial field, and he is now regarded as one of Cleveland's leading trial lawyers. He has been special counsel, in Cleveland, to the state's attorney general for eight years. Among the cases handled for the state have been the Stockholders' Liability cases for Cleveland's closed banks in which, it is reported, he made the highest collection in Ohio history.

Mr. Marshman is associated with nine other attorneys in the firm of Harrison and Marshman, with offices in the Guardian Building.

Marshman was an organizer and first president of the club which owns the Cleveland Rams, a member team of the National Professional Football League. He is also an active member of the Cleveland Bobcat Club.

He married Miss Beatrice Browning Noyes of Brookline, Mass., in 1925, and has a daughter, Jane, 14, and a son, Edward, 10.

Dr. William A. Matheny Is Fourth Oldest Full Professor on Staff

William Alderman Matheny, '08 (see front cover), who is fourth in seniority among the Ohio University alumni enjoying full professorial rank on the faculty of their alma mater, was born in Athens County, Ohio, Feb. 20, 1882.

He graduated from Ohio University with the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy in 1908, after an undergraduate career which was interspersed with teaching experiences in high schools at Trimble, Thurston, and Sardis. He was an assistant in botany at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., 1908-11, a period during which he earned the Master of Arts and the Doctor of Philosophy degrees. He returned to Ohio University in 1911 as professor of botany, the title and rank held at the present time.

In addition to work in botany, Dr. Matheny has devoted a great deal of time to the development of the Ohio University Museum, which, under his curatorship, has become a valuable adjunct not only to his own department but to the entire university. The museum now contains more than 75000 specimens, and is located on the second floor of the Agriculture and Household Arts Building.

Doctor Matheny is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and a director of the American Nature Study Society. He lectures extensively, and is a contributor to numerous professional journals.

Draws War Department Assignment

Lieut. Anthony J. "Tony" Race, '35, a graduate of the George Washington University Law School and an examiner for the Social Security Board, in Washington, D. C., has been called to active military duty and assigned to the Office of the Quartermaster General as an assistant to the executive director. He was admitted last fall to the practice of law before the courts of the District of Columbia. Among Lieut. Race's many present interests is the presidency of the Washington chapter of the Ohio University Alumni Association.

Editor Finds Currier and Ives Print Picturing Thomas Ewing

Charles H. Harris, '06, managing editor of the Athens Messenger, has two hobby interests outside the editorial sanctum. One is the collecting of historical facts relating to Ohio, and particularly to the Hocking Valley; the other is the collecting of Currier & Ives lithographs. His collection of the latter is an excellent one.

Among his historical prints is a 10" x 14" color plate, by N. Currier and copyrighted in 1841, a very early date in Currier history, in which Ohio University's first graduate, Thomas Ewing, 1815, appears. Beneath the picture is the caption, "Death of [William Henry] Harrison, April 4, A. D. 1841," while in smaller letters there is a quotation from President Harrison — "I wish you to understand the true principles of the government. I wish them carried out. I ask nothing more."

Sitting at the foot of the death bed is Thomas Ewing, secretary of the treasury, with a handkerchief to his eyes. Near Ewing is Daniel Webster, Harrison's secretary of state, with a rolled manuscript in one hand and the other hand raised in an oratorical gesture. Then, in order, are "The Physician," "Niece," "Nephew," Rev. Dr. Hawley, in an attitude of prayer, and, last, F. Granger, postmaster general, standing at an open door.

Messenger Editors Smiley and Harris

Bobcat Court Squad Maintains Merry Clip; Toledo Rockets Will Provide Crucial Test

WITH A RECORD of 8 victories and 2 defeats to date, Ohio's fast-stepping Bobcat basketballers have passed the half-way mark on their schedule and are beginning to entertain hopes of a top or near-top standing at the end of the season. The two defeats were suffered at the hands of out-of-state teams during a Christmas vacation trip, so their record against Ohio competition is as yet unblemished.

The extended Eastern trip usually scheduled for the year-end recess was discarded this year in favor of a brief dash into Indiana and Kentucky. The Eastern junkets, sometimes involving games six nights in a row, have proved to be too great a physical strain on the players. The Bobcats have returned from many of these trips so leg-weary that it took them two weeks to recover. This year, Evansville Teachers College, Evansville, Ind., and Western Kentucky Teachers College, Bowling Green, Ky., were met on a two-game trip from which the Green and White warriors returned not with their shields—but on them. The Hoosiers nosed out the Bobcats, 58-57, in a red hot tilt on New Year's night. The following evening the Kentucky Teachers, state champions last year, laid low the Ohioans, 57-41, for their only other reverse of the current season. Despite the results, Frank Baumholtz, the Bobcats' scoring ace, was the high point man in both games.

In a rout that was nothing short of complete, Big Bill Trautwein's boys toyed with a hapless Marietta quintet, Jan. 7, winning 60 to 34. Second and third stringers were on the floor a good portion of the time. Marietta, which long ago dropped out of Ohio's class as a gridiron opponent, is usually represented by a strong court squad. This year, the Bobcats derived little satisfaction from the sound licking they administered the Blue and White boys.

On road trips, Jan. 11 and 13, Baumholtz and Company had two more big evenings, this time at the expense of the Miami Redskins and the Dayton Flyers, who were set down by scores of 54-30 and 62-41, respectively. Again the veterans, Baumholtz, Blickensderfer, Snyder, Ott, Deinzer, and McSherry, were pulled out of the line-ups at early stages in order to give their understudies a bit of seasoning.

Sweet was the revenge taken by the Bobcats, Jan. 18, in Ohio Gym, for their 40-35 loss of last season to the Ohio Wesleyan Bishops in which Baumholtz was held scoreless, for the first time in his career, by Wesleyan's

Jack Buttermore. This time Big Bill's proteges trimmed their adversaries 65 to 47, while Baumie ran Mr. Buttermore to a state of exhaustion as he tallied 21 points before taking an early leave for the showers. The total score could have been much higher had the Ohio coach elected to "shut the gates of mercy" by leaving his first stringers in the contest.

The high point of the season is expected to be reached on Feb. 7 when the Toledo Rockets, the leading quintet in the state as this is written, will come to Ohio Gym to meet the not-so-far-behind Bobcats for what may very well be the championship of Ohio.

If the Bobcats can maintain their present 54-point per game average and meanwhile tighten up their defense a bit, there is little doubt of their finishing the season in an enviable position. Besides the Toledoans, the Cincinnati Bearcats and the Washington and Jefferson Presidents will be the only last half opponents not previously met this year.

Foremost among the Bobcat reserve forces are three juniors — Pete Lalich, Cleveland; Robert Miller, Strasburg; and John Mlakar, Cleveland; and three sophomores — Sid Reinfeld, Newark, N. J.; Charles Fulks, Dunkirk; and Douglas Reinhardt, Brecksville.

A new course of instruction, Camping Methods, will be offered by the Women's Physical Welfare Department next semester for girls especially interested in counsellor training. A camp bureau, an agency through which applicants for camp positions will be assisted in making desirable contacts, has been set up.

The athletic program for women at Ohio University includes volleyball, tennis, archery, basketball, hockey, swimming, hiking, track, folk dancing, modern dancing, tap dancing, bowling, riflery, badminton, golf, softball, fencing, and intramural competition in a majority of these. Women students who for any reason are unable to participate in activity classes are given individual instruction in special classes.

Here and There Among the Alumni

L. V. BIERCE, 1822, who was an eminent attorney, mayor of Akron, and president of the Akron Board of Education, received his master's degree from Ohio University, as he reported to a friend in 1857, on the Idus Iunius, Anno Domini, Nellysino, Octingentissimo, tricimo primo. He was Grand Master of Blue Lodge Masons in Ohio, and was vice-president of the Atlantic and Great Western Rail Road Company, which was organized to construct a railroad between Little Valley, N. Y., and Cincinnati, a distance of 423 miles. He died in 1876.

DANIEL V. McLEAN, 1824, A.M. 1827, was president of Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., from 1850 to 1857. Dr. E. W. Chubb, retired Ohio University dean, is a graduate of Lafayette College, while Prof. C. N. Mackinnon, of Ohio University's department of English, is a former member of the Lafayette faculty.

SAMUEL BIGGER, 1825, moved from Ohio to Indiana a few years after graduation. He practiced law in the Hoosier state, and, after serving as a member of the State Legislature and as a circuit judge, he was elected governor of Indiana in 1840. He died in Fort Wayne in 1846.

Word has come from Mrs. R. E. Porterfield (ANNA BARTON, '88), Spokane, Wash., of the death of her husband, Nov. 27, 1940, following a period of ill health. Mr. Porterfield, 78 years of age, was a pioneer Spokane attorney and business man. He had attended Lake Forest College and was a graduate of Princeton University. Besides his widow he is survived by a son, Howard J. Porterfield, who was associated with his father in the Porterfield Mortgage Co. Mrs. Porterfield attended the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the graduation of her class at Ohio University in 1938.

A. W. McCULLOCH, '96, who is engaged in the real estate and insurance business in Gadsden, Ala., is a varsity football player of the yesteryears. In a recent letter he wrote as follows: "I have been interested in the Bobcats. I played center on O. U. in '94 and '95, which I think was the first regular team the school had. In '94 we had no coach. We had one a week or so in '95, and he was then down most of the season with typhoid fever. However, we had no better sense than to play the Ohio Wesleyans, championship team of the state; also the next best team, which was Marietta. I don't think we scored in '94, but we wound up '95 with a pretty fair showing."

Dr. H. T. PHILLIPS, '97x, state senator from the 9th-14th senatorial district, has been named to positions on five of the most important Senate committees in the 94th General Assembly. He is chairman of the health committee, vice-chairman of the agriculture committee, vice-chairman of the education committee, and a member of the educational section of the finance committee and of the taxation committee. Last summer he served on an honorary staff of physicians at the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia. A veteran legislator, Dr. Phillips pursues the practice of medicine in Athens between meetings of the solons in Columbus.

DEATHS

WARREN M. "MIKE" LOUCKS, '32, a Columbus credit manager, died Christmas night, 1940, at the Franklin County Tuberculosis Hospital. The immediate cause of death was hemorrhage of the lung. He had been in the hospital since a lung was punctured by a fractured rib eight months ago. His university work was interrupted some ten years ago by a tubercular attack and an enforced rest period. He is survived by a wife and a daughter, Patricia. He was a brother of ROBERT C. LOUCKS, '31, Canal Winchester.

GEORGE E. WHIPPLE, '99x, died Jan. 11, 1941, while enroute to Bridgeport, Conn., to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Gordon Nelson (MARTHA WHIPPLE, '29). He was stricken by a heart attack. All of his children—Mrs. Nelson, ELDRIDGE WHIPPLE, '33x, and DICK WHIPPLE, '39 (M.F.A. '40)—are alumni of Ohio University. Mr. Whipple, who was for more than forty years manager of Cline's Pharmacy in Athens and well-known to many generations of students, had recently retired because of ill health. He was an ardent supporter of Ohio University athletics and was active in civic affairs, having been president of the Athens City Board of Education for twenty years.

BIRTHS

What little Elinore (right in center column picture) and Brother Bill are saying to each other probably never will be known for certain, but it is a good guess that they are discussing their parents, the menu for the next meal, or some other vitally important topic related to infant welfare. At any rate, these twin children of LEO M. BAKER, '38, and Mrs. Baker (MARTHA HITCHCOCK, '36), Torch, have their heads together over something of mutual interest. Mr. Baker is coach and instructor in Troy Twp. High School, Coolville. The maternal grandmother of the twins is Mrs. Mary Jane Hitchcock, Alpha Xi Delta housemother, Athens. The twins are now four months of age.

Patrick to MR. GEORGE C. DUNLAP, '38, and Mrs. Dunlap, 17 Ware St., Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 19, 1940. Mr. Dunlap is a student in the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. Mrs. Dunlap, who was Miss Alma Brown, is a former member of the Ohio University faculty in the women's physical education department.

A daughter to DR. HOWARD P. LONGSTAFF, '23, and Mrs. Longstaff, 1817 Fourth St., S. E. Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 3, 1941. Dr. Longstaff is assistant professor of psychology at the University of Minnesota.

Jerome Charles to CHARLES H. GORBY, '32, and Mrs. Gorby, 807 S. Montrose Dr., South Charleston, W. Va., Mar. 17, 1940. Mr. Gorby is a field representative for West Virginia and Virginia, of the H. N. White Company of Cleveland.

Jon LeMoyne to Mr. and Mrs. George Hedges (LAURA HOLLIDAY, '37, 2-yr.), Hopedale, July 4, 1940.

Judith Caren to CHARLES H. BING, '35, A.M., '39, and Mrs. Bing, Middleport, Dec. 21, 1940. Mr. Bing is an instructor in English in Middleport High School.

Anne Helen to LIEUT. A. R. STACY, '36, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Stacy, Quantico, Va., Nov. 1, 1940. At the present time Lieut. Stacy is engaged in maneuvers with the First Marine Aircraft Corps at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Judith Ellen to FRED L. BUXTON, '26, and Mrs. Buxton, 623 Simms St., Charleston, W. Va., May 30, 1940. Mr. Buxton is territorial manager for the General Motors Acceptance Corporation.

Charles Stewart to ALBERT GARDNER, '34, and Mrs. Gardner, Amesville, Dec. 17, 1940. Mr. Gardner is principal of Ames-Bern High School.

Kenneth Harvey, Jr., to KENNETH H. PICKERING, '17, and Mrs. Pickering, 1819 Ohio Ave., Youngstown, Ohio, Nov. 5, 1940. Mr. Pickering is an instructor in history in Rayen High School.

Karin to RICHARD F. ATKINS, '36x, and Mrs. Atkins (THORA OLSON, '37), 111 W. High Terrace, Geddes, Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 26, 1940. Mr. Atkins is associated with the Champion Spark Plug Co. The maternal grandfather is THOR OLSON, '27, OU wrestling coach.
